PROJECT

BREAKDOWN

As we know, individuals are being groomed and radicalised on and offline. This session will be your opportunity to hear from someone who was involved with a variety of Extreme Right-Wing (ERW) groups, giving an in-depth view of what the ERW is, how it recruits, operates, what its ultimate goals are and different types of organisations/ideologies - Populist, Nationalist, hard-core National Socialist and Accelerationist.

It will also highlight how the ERW are specifically targeting the autistic community. Exit Hate aim is to educate people about the ERW threat to community cohesion and how to challenge this in a non-confrontational way.

Upskilling training attendees will learn - how to listen, and have difficult conversations which will allow people to discuss their worries, and thus reduce the appeal of the far-right, who act as the only ones who care and via listening, recruit. This training will include what signs to look out for, how to talk to someone with concerns, and open doors to alternatives to extremism and support from professionals.
